

Police Recover Body of Carl Arneson, Suicide, in River

ONE DEAD, 3 HURT, IN WRECK AT POYNETTE

IS IDENTIFIED AS MISSING SECTION HAND OF C. & N. W.

BODY FOUND SHORT DISTANCE FROM WHERE LAST SEEN.

$33 IN POCKETS
Also Had $1,500 Bank Account—$25 Reward Goes to Policemen.

Police recovered the body of Carl Arneson in Rock river near the Fourth avenue bridge shortly before 10 a. m. Monday, within less than two hours after they had begun dragging for the man who was seen to leap off the upper railroad bridge early last Wednesday morning. Although for several days it had been the belief that the drowned man was the body that this was finally determined, the body having been identified as Arneson by W. J. Krueger, proprietor of the Wales hotel where Arneson stayed.

The body was found in 15 feet of water about 75 feet from the east bank of the river and nearly opposite to the south wall of the Rock River Machine company's plant. It was in a direct line with the point where the man went into the water and about 50 feet south of where he was seen to go under the ice.

The body was fully clothed in a work suit and sheepskin jacket and was in a good state of preservation.

Lenhardt Makes Recovery.

The discovery was made by Patrolman Leo Lenhardt from a boat rowed by Motorcycles Patrolman George Porter and the body was taken ashore at the Fifth avenue boat landing, from where it was removed to the undertaking establishment of County Coroner John A. Wheeler. Lenhardt and Porter had started searching only a few minutes before, using one of the swimming beach life-boats, hauled to the river from the Jefferson school. Night from the Jefferson school, Porter and William Saxby had been dragging further upstream since 8 o'clock in a boat borrowed from a 12-jewel Illinois watch with the hands stopped at 11:25. Tobacco was found in other pockets but there were no letters to indicate why he had taken his life.

A card was found showing his membership in the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers. (Continued on Page 4.)

SOVIET REDS URGED PARTY IN AMERICA

St. Joseph, Mo.—The third international of Moscow advised American communists to form a legal party, Charles E. Ruthenberg, co-defendant with William Z. Foster on charges of criminal syndicalism testified Monday in Foster's trial.

Reading from the theses and resolutions of the Third World Congress of the communists international, held at Moscow in 1921, Ruthenberg found a section which the state had not read when the document was presented in evidence for the prosecution and that this gave the jury the communist international explanation that the illegal, underground organization in the United States was the outgrowth of persecution. Foster had never been an employee of the national communist party. The Trade Union Educational League, of which Foster is the head, is an outside organization and tried to influence the witness said.

Harding Gets Real Pointers on Dogs from Vacation Pal

President Harding enjoying chat with Master McLean about the lad's pet during stay at Palm Beach.

"It's quite a job making a stand on their hind legs. You have to offer an extra thing," is the sage advice President Harding is receiving regarding dogs from the young son of Edward E. McLean, Washington publisher. President and Mrs. Harding are the guests of the McLeans on their vacation trip and the McLean boy climbs onto Harding's knee every time he gets a chance.

Long Session of Legislature Seen

Madison—Despite all attempts to shorten the present session of the legislature, and with reports from committees that work is progressing more rapidly than in the past, the facts indicate at present that an early adjournment is improbable.

A report of legislative business Monday shows that, up to the present, 21 bills have become acts by passage in both houses of the legislature, compared to 43 measures enacted at the same time two years ago.

In the senate, there are at present 292 bills introduced, compared with 546 at this time in 1921. There were 252 additional bills brought into the upper house after this time two years ago, making a total of 598.

600 Bills in House
In the assembly, up to this time, 600 bills have been introduced, compared with 443 at this time two years ago, with 158 additional introduced between this time and adjournment, making a total of 601.

FIRE DESTROYS SHARON HOME

Sharon, Mo.—The first unofficial report emanating from the executive office, concerning Governor Blaine's new tax bill, outline certain features of a measure intended to raise $12,000,000 from incomes, $6,700,000 of which would be retained by the state, and the remainder returned to cities and counties.

Copies of the new proposal are expected to be prepared for members by Thursday of this week. This will give time for consideration over the Easter recess, with opportunity for the governor to explain his tax bill.

HARDING OPPOSES U. S. INITIATIVE IN ECONOMIC PARLEY

FAVORS PRINCIPLE BUT AWAITS EUROPEAN INVITATION.

FEARS DEADLOCK
International Chamber of Commerce Unanimously Adopts Plan for Conference.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright, 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

St. Augustine, Fla.—President Harding is not opposed to the principle of a world economic conference, but does not wish the United States to take the initiative in calling one. This attitude was made plain by an executive action which came from abroad that the American delegation to the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce at Rome had succeeded in securing a unanimous adoption of a resolution favoring a world economic conference.

Mr. Harding has been "confronted before by the same proposition," a member of the delegation introduced his resolution in the senate which would have passed by an overwhelming vote by the suggestion from the president, that such action might be unconstructive, having already been considered by the senate.

SEE A NEWSPAPER IN THE MAKING AT HIGH SPEED

You can see the Gazette in operation at the Myers studio, beginning tonight, and for Tuesday night. The studio is located at the corner of Third and Main streets. There are a score of other industries and institutions in Janesville which, if placed on the screen, would make an interesting film picture. Taken in connection with the regular picture at the Myers, "A Front Page Story," the contrast between the old method of making a newspaper and the new is sharp and emphatic. It is thirty years since the Gazette was printed on a press like the one used in the Myers studio.

Prize winners for the Gazette essay contest will be announced in Tuesday's paper. Essays and stories on the Gazette coming up to noon Tuesday will be considered in the contest. $5 for the first prize, $3 for the second, and $2 for the third best story. Some of those now in an excellent condition of making a newspaper, fully equipped plant. When the first showing of the film was being made, Saturday, in order to pass the film, the committee said "Go!" "I didn't know the Gazette had all that machinery. Their machines I never saw."

See this film. It is educational and interesting. And you get a good story, too—a rattling good story—of a quarrel between the mayor and the editor and how the latter won the truth about the mayor.

Flood Danger Is Slight in Wisconsin River Valleys

Madison—The danger of serious floods in Wisconsin this spring with the opening of streams is slight in the sections where the most serious trouble has been caused in the past. Col. Byron Beveridge, inspector general of the Wisconsin national guard reports, Colonel Beveridge has been over the situation in several parts of the state.

Southern Wisconsin may face some flood waters from the Wisconsin river, he finds, but in the Central portion of the state in the Fox River and Wolf River valleys, there is less likelihood of overflows than for some years. A comparatively light snow fall over the northern sections has lessened the danger in that region, according to Colonel Beveridge.

Guard Is Ready.

The Wisconsin National Guard is prepared to handle any situation that may arise as a result of the possible spring floods, requiring relief to persons residing in the lowlands. Its equipment, the adjutant general's

SARAH BERNHARDT DEAD

BULLETIN
Paris.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt died Monday evening at her home here.

EARLY REPORTS
Paris.—(By Associated Press.) Mrs. Bernhardt lay in her home here following a collapse Sunday night.

At 3 p. m. Monday a priest entered the home from the nearby church of St. Francois de Sales, to administer extreme unction. A quarter hour later the actress physician announced her condition hopeless, and that she might die at any moment. She was sleeping under an opiate.

Hundreds of the actress' friends were at or near the home and the street was crowded with carriages or cabs, in which people came to pay their respects.

4 BELIEVED LOST AS N. Y. BOARDING HOUSE IS BURNED

MANY ROOMERS INJURED IN SPECTACULAR BLAZE.

HEROIC RESCUES

Firemen Take Occupants from High Window Ledges of Theatrical Building.

New York.—At least four persons are believed to have lost their lives in a fire that swept through a seven-story theatrical boarding house in West 67th street, Monday morning.

Several roomers were injured. Many were trapped on the top floor, where the blaze started, and spectacular rescues were made.

Anna Price, 35, received fatal burns while clinging to a top floor window ledge waiting for firemen. She died while being taken down a ladder.

Margaret Lee, 19, an actress, was badly burned while standing at a window waiting for the firemen.

The bodies of Margaret Lee, 35, Emily Lee, 35, and a woman named Mary Lee, 35, were found on the second floor. They were relatives of the actress, Margaret Lee, who was severely burned.

The fire originated in the apartment of Joseph M. Callahan, who was a captain in the 28th division. A. E. P. Miss Fies, who lost her life, was a companion to Captain Callahan's wife, who is seriously ill.

The blaze which wrecked the three upper floors, swept down the stairs and elevator shaft and out off the occupants. There were 150 persons living in the building.

The firemen used 65 foot ladders to rescue some of the frightened occupants, who stood on window ledges in their night clothes. David Miller, 22, slid down a pipe from a fourth story window and broke both legs when he landed in the court yard.

24 Confirmed at St. Paul's Church

Between 600 and 700 attended exercises at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Sunday, when 12 boys and 12 girls were confirmed. Each was presented with a confirmation certificate containing a memorial verse, taken from the Bible.

The church was decorated with ferns, Easter lilies, and spring flowers. The address, given by the Rev. E. A. L. Treu, was, "Why Should You, on the Day of Your Confirmation, Cheerfully Swear Loyalty to Christ, Your King?"

"First, He is a great and glorious King; and, second, He graciously guides and protects you," said the pastor.

FIREMAN KILLED AS TRAIN CRASHES THROUGH BRIDGE

ST. PAUL ENGINEER, BAGGAGEMAN, EXPRESS MESSENGER HURT.

TIMBERS BURNED
Engine, Tender and One Car Pile Up in Pit Between Madison and Portage.

(By Associated Press.)

Madison.—One fireman was killed and three injured Monday when the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul passenger train, No. 116, running between Portage and Madison, crashed through a burned out bridge one mile south of Poyntette. None of the passengers was seriously hurt.

Fireman Edward Daily, Portage, 36, was killed when the tender and baggage car telescoped over the engine, thrown into the pit of the bridge.

Passengers shaken.
Engineer Leonard Rolleston, 50, Portage; Jewell Holstein, Madison, baggageman, and John Peterson, express messenger, were all seriously injured by the crash. Passengers in two coaches attached to the train were badly shaken up but none was hurt.

The train was southbound for Madison when the accident happened. The engine was unable to see the bridge which came when the engine careened into the open cut, near the bridge obstructed the view so the engine crew was unaware of the danger until too late to prevent the crash. It is believed sparks from a train that passed during the night set fire to the bridge, which was practically burned out by the time the Portage-Madison train made its regular run.

Only the fact that the baggage car, telescoped over the engine and tender, prevented the passenger coaches from crashing down the embankment, stayed off a more serious wreck. The train had a number of passengers, including several University of Wisconsin students returning to their classes.

One of the coaches jumped the track, but remained upright. Doctors at a receiving crew have been sent from Madison.

The Madison division pile driver and work train, which was in Janesville, Monday morning, was sent to Poyntette on orders following the wreck. The pile driver was to have gone out over the Mineral Point dike, which was damaged by a timber in the vicinity of Bridge No. 1. The pile driver was in the recent storm. It was in charge of Conductor James Raltinger.

MILWAUKEE BOY FOUND MURDERED

Milwaukee.—The body of an 13 year old boy, with a pocket knife sticking in it, was found here Monday, March 26, in a north portion of Milwaukee and St. Paul road, in a section north of State street, known as Center City. The body, wrapped in a woman's petticoat, was bound with ropes and twine and lacerations and cuts on the face of the boy led the police to declare he had been murdered.

Chemical Expert Deals New Blow to Bomb Defense

[By Associated Press.]

Wisconsin Rapids.—Apparently not satisfied with the testimony of three handwriting experts, language students, witnesses and government agents, the state, in the trial of John Magnuson, charged with the murder of Mrs. James R. Chapman, receiver of the celebrated "Yule bomb," stepped forward Monday morning, calling to the stand Prof. David E. Fahlgberg of the chemical engineering metallurgy department of the University of Wisconsin, whose testimony is said by state's attorneys to be the most damaging and conclusive yet given.

The startling testimony of Prof. Fahlgberg began the second week of the trial and the first of the metallurgy department of the University of Wisconsin, whose testimony is said by state's attorneys to be the most damaging and conclusive yet given.

Prof. Fahlgberg testified that, after making four separate experiments, he had decided, "beyond any doubt, that both were made by the same man and from the same steel." This was accomplished, he said, by dipping the steel in acids, each test rendering the same reaction on the steel.

His testimony was given in a water proofed room, after the state's attorneys had made it into a water proof.

POSTPONE KIWANIS EASTER EGG HUNT

Fear Weather Will Be Unfavorable for Event, Saturday.

Postponement of the second annual Easter egg hunt of the Kiwanis club scheduled for Saturday, March 31, is announced by Chairman W. E. Clinton on account of weather conditions which indicate the day will be unfavorable for the affair which last year brought several thousand children to court house park. It is probable the hunt will be held the following Saturday, Easter this year is 12 days ahead of last year, making quite a difference in the weather.

No. 148, indicating that he had paid $2.25 dues on Dec. 18, 1922.

Chief of Police Charles Newman took charge of the money and water and notified Chief Ben Springer, Edgerton, of the finding of the body.

He was to get in touch with Arneson's sister, Mrs. A. Thompson, Edgerton, to learn what shall be done with the body. Mrs. Thompson is the only living relative of Arneson, the other members of the family living in Norway. The $100 Arneson has in a savings account at the Bower City bank will be turned over to these relatives.

Search Made Sunday.

With practically all of the ice out of the river between the city's Fourth avenue bridge and the high railroad bridge, several citizens searched for the body, Sunday. Melvin Ous, who had recovered the bodies of many drowned people, dragged the river for several hours and was ready to resume his work, Monday morning, just as police found the body.

The experiment suggested by Fred W. Hansen, Evansville, to the police last year in connection with the river drowning was tried Sunday. A bundle of corn fodder was thrown into the stream where Arneson went into the water and it floated down until it came to the point where the body was later found. It stopped here for a minute before continuing down the river, police said.

AS QUICK AS AN EGG

Quick Quaker Oats cook as quickly as an egg. They are ready in 3 to 5 minutes. No other oat flakes cook anywhere near so quickly.

Just like regular Quaker in quality and flavor. Flaked from the finest grains only. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both.

Denning Grocery in Bankruptcy

Joseph W. Denning, proprietor of Denning's Grocery, 205 Locust street, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy and was adjudged bankrupt by C. F. Lamb, referee, in bankruptcy, Madison on Friday. A meeting of the creditors will be held at Madison, April 7.

U. W. STUDENTS TO EDIT BADGER PAPERS

Waldo W. Batlen, Janesville, a senior in the school of journalism of the University of Wisconsin, is one of the students who will go to Alton, to edit the Record-Herald the week of April 4-12. The paper will be taken over and edited completely by the five students during the week. Other students will edit the Rice Lake Chronotype, the Burlington Standard-Democrat, the Prairie du Chien Courier and the Darlington Republican-Journal. Fred T. Kihlow, Whitewater, will be at Rice Lake, and Jerome O. Bjerke, Stoutland, at Algoma.

Miss Janesville Says—

For innovations of the hour watch the many young people spending the Easter vacation from surrounding colleges, at their homes in the city. They usually bring home the little fads which at school have distinguished them from the "townspeople."

The passing of the Easter bonnet is fully recognized by all who pretend to have the last word in style. In the effort to have the latest, the Easter bonnet was donned in mid-winter, probably as a valentine.

A large collar stole up in front of this Beverly theater, Saturday afternoon, and wagging his tail, in a friendly manner, proceeded to get acquainted with the picture of the famous movie dog, "Strongheart."

Girl Is Awarded $750 for Injuries in Auto Accident

The case of Miss Marjorie Hefferman against the Janesville Delivery company for damages for injuries received while in the company's employ last September, has been settled with the decision of the industrial commission, received Saturday, ordering the company and the insurance firm to pay her, $254 at once and $14.90 per week until a total of $528 has been paid, according to her attorney, G. W. Williams. All doctors' bills of the past, since the accident, and for any future service until Miss Hefferman is completely recovered, are to be paid by them. Miss Hefferman was struck by an automobile last September while crossing a street near the Methodist church.

AS QUICK AS AN EGG

Quick Quaker Oats cook as quickly as an egg. They are ready in 3 to 5 minutes. No other oat flakes cook anywhere near so quickly.

Just like regular Quaker in quality and flavor. Flaked from the finest grains only. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both.

Who don't want dingy film on teeth.

This offers you a method millions now employ. It is used the world over—in some 50 countries—by people who want to fight film.

You see the results everywhere. New charm, new beauty comes from glistening teeth. Now we urge you to learn, by a delightful test, how such teeth are acquired.

Film—the great enemy

Film is the teeth's great enemy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why few escaped tooth troubles.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

Old brushing methods left much film intact. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

So dental science sought ways to fight film, and in time found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Constant guardians

Pepsodent also creates constant guardians. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus it gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

Twill delight you

The Pepsodent results will amaze and delight you. This test may change the whole dental history in your home.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will very soon convince you. And that is most important. Cut out coupon now.

You will be amazed to see how the use of "Bull" Durham will cut down the cost of your smoking.

How is it possible to give you quality at the low cost of 10 cents for 50 cigarettes?

Here's one reason: The government tax alone on 50 machine-made cigarettes is 15 cents—5 CENTS MORE THAN THE COST OF 50 "BULL" DURHAM CIGARETTES TO YOU!

The average smoker saves $1 to $1.50 a week by "rolling his own" from "Bull"—or from $52 to $78 a year. This makes quite a Christmas fund—or pays for a fine trip.

HUNDREDS MARVEL AT NEW SCHOOL AS OPEN HOUSE BEGINS

Hundreds of citizens were at the new high school building, Sunday afternoon, the first time it has been officially open for inspection, and superlatives of "wonderful," "beautiful," and "marvelous" were heard from all sides as the townspeople gazed at the gigantic auditorium with its simple finish of white and oak, at the large swimming pools and perfectly constructed shower rooms, at the cafeteria dining room, at the gymnasium, at the room in the city, or at any of the hundreds of things to see in this building, the pride of Janesville and the center of interest in educational circles of the middle west.

Open Monday Night
The building was open all afternoon and the hour between four and five o'clock found parking space outside the building at a premium, with halls, classrooms and offices crowded with people. The building was open to the public on Monday night, but it was not open. It will be, however, from 7 to 9 p. m., Monday, with the building flooded with light. It will be even more attractive than in the day time. Visits may also be made any time in the afternoon, or on Tuesday afternoon or evening. The dedication exercises are to be held at eight o'clock Tuesday night in the auditorium.

Radio Concert in Gym
All children and school pupils will be asked to go to the gymnasium on Tuesday night, thus respecting the auditorium, where it is expected every seat will be filled, for the parents and other adults. In the gymnasium, through the courtesy of the Wisconsin Electric Sales company, a radio concert will be given. The best of equipment will be set up there and little trouble is expected in getting a good musical concert. The apparatus for reproducing sound which would enable those in the gymnasium to hear what was being said in the auditorium, worked in perfectly and cannot be used. It reproduced music all right, but speeches could not be heard well.

In leaving the building after the exercises, congestion will be avoided if all five exits are used. There are two on each side of the building in addition to the main front one, and all should be used.

On the stage Tuesday night will be seen the board of education, the common council, other city officials, city, county, state, and visiting educators, and others connected with the construction of the building. Dr. W. A. Garfield, president of Carroll college, is to give the main address, while a number of city officials, educators and others are to give short talks.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE BEVERLY.

Crowded houses saw and praised "The Third Alarm" at the Beverly Sunday. Comments were practically all favorable, the thrilling scenes of the picture, combined with sentiment, form the sort of picture that is popular.

The story concerns an old and a new fire department with the old fireman released from duty after many exciting battles when the clangor of the fire bell is heard. The new fireman, both discharged, came to the rescue of the man's son and his lover who had been caught in a burning building. The building collapsed and it was only the father and the old fireman who were able to brave the flames and save the two. There are many touching scenes making the picture well liked and rich in entertainment value. Ralph Lewis, Johnnie Walker and Ella Hall all give convincing performances. A Bull Montana comedy is seen, and a special orchestra will play for the remainder of the engagement.

HEALTH WORKERS TO STRESS PREVENTION

Centuring health work on prevention through a better understanding of health standards and hygiene rather than correcting defects, is the broader idea which will be worked out by county nurses, Miss Anna Lautscher, of Rock county, said, Saturday, upon returning from the annual institute for Wisconsin Public Health Nurses held in Madison, Tuesday and Friday. Miss Irene State and Miss Joslin, Beloit, also attended.

He was a lifelong resident of Platteville and was in the clothing business for many years, until his death. He served Platteville in 1898 by President McKinley. He held this office for 25 years. He entered the machinery business and was actively engaged in this until his illness. He served this district as assemblyman in 1916. He organized a National guard company at the outbreak of the war and gave over the company to a man with more military experience.

Jefferson county has $15,000 delinquent real estate tax, according to the annual report of the county, village and town treasurers to County Treasurer, Frederick L. Bullwinkel. There is no personal property tax delinquent, and the entire income tax and surplus was paid except $27.00. The county's share of state tax amounted to $100,768.66 and the state apportioned $5,702.60; the state loans, $7,933.56; bridge tax, $2,511.49; county superintendent's tax, $3,000; goldmine relief tax, $3,000; county general tax, $250,726.56; illegal assessments, $53.63; highway special charges, $64,742.47; other state special charges, $350.06; delinquent personal property tax for 1921 which was charged back amounts to $655.82. The total amount of these taxes is $479,466.85. Adding to this amount $27.11 for 42 for school tax, it makes $516,583.27 the total amount of tax certified. The total amount of money paid in cash to the county treasurer is $362,394.85.

Town Treasurers Turn in Taxes

Friday afternoon and Saturday were busy times for County Treasurers Arthur M. March and town treasurers effecting a settlement of county taxes, a proceeding which has been delayed for many on account of the condition of the roads.

More than $70,000 was paid the county treasurer within 24 hours, with Center, Edgerton, Fulton, Turtle, and LaPrairie checked as having paid.

Amounts were as follows:
Center, W. C. Miller, treasurer, total $12,709.35, with cash $12,222.06 and delinquent $477.29.

Edgerton, Edson, Ogdon, city treasurer, total $17,211.91 with cash paid $16,741.03 and delinquent $470.88.

DIES LAUGHING AT COMEDIAN

London — The metaphor "dying of laughter" was translated into fact in the case of elderly Joseph Chaffield, who was so pleased at the droolery of a leading American "movie" comedian that he was unable to control his laughter and suddenly collapsed, dying in the arms of a woman sitting beside him in a cinema theater here. Physicians said Chaffield's heart had been ruptured.

LUMBER CAMPS HAVE SUCCESSFUL WINTER

Birchwood — The lumber camps in Wisconsin are breaking up after one of the most successful winters since the war. This is resulting in the releasing of thousands of men employed in the camps, who will now take up other employments. The Algoma Panel Co., camp-crews were abandoned about a week ago. This company cut several million feet of lumber which consisted chiefly of hemlock and fir. The company was cut by other companies and although billions of feet of lumber will be saved in the year 1923, it is predicted that there will be no over production.

bits. Out of this total number 531 proposals were finally passed by both houses.

With two and one-half months of the present session already gone, all important legislation still remains to be considered. An Easter recess next week will carry the session to April 1. Following that there will be controversies over highway and income tax legislation and educational matters that will carry the session through another two months unless present is overruled.

The attempt to shorten the present session by setting a definite time for adjournment may be carried out in that event there would be a jam of legislation during the closing days that would prevent action on many proposals.

Senate Moving Slowly
The senate this year is working more slowly than two years ago, while the assembly has been speeding along in much better shape. A few weeks may be cut off the session by hurrying business in the upper house, but it appears improbable that adjournment can be accomplished by the middle of May, as planned.

The legislature will be in session for three days this week, both houses having passed a resolution providing for adjournment Thursday, until Wednesday of next week, on account of Easter and the municipal elections of next Tuesday. This will be the longest recess of the session.

had been sent out by this government on the subject.

Awake European Move
The inner history of what was going on at the same time that Mr. Borah was pressing his resolution has never been revealed by the American government but it has a direct bearing on the effect which the resolution just passed in Rome will have on the policy of the Washington administration.

Mr. Harding's first mention of the economic conference was in conversation with Premier Briand, Arthur J. Balfour and other statesmen who attended the Washington conference on the limitation of armament in November, 1921, and he explained then that he hoped some European power would take the initiative as he believed that upon the basis problems, such as reparations which would be inextricably a part of any world economic conference, there should be an agreement among the European powers.

Initiative Urged
Both the president and Secretary Hughes found themselves being urged, nevertheless, to take the initiative. They politely warned off these requests, most of which came from American businessmen. The chief argument advanced then was that in any economic conference, the United States as host would have to lay down a program and this would involve sacrifices just as was done at the outset of the arms conference.

It was also contended by the president that until the senate acted on the arms limitation there would be no use entering into further conferences and when the senate did act, the statement was made that until the terms which signed the arms agreements, actually ratified them, it would be futile to propose other economic readjustments which involved questions even more delicate than limitation of naval armament. All the powers have ratified except France and action by the French is expected within a fortnight.

Right Mood Imperative
The arguments, however, against American taking the initiative remain the same in the executive's mind. He feels that until Europe is in a more accommodating mood a conference on economic questions would be deadlocked. Belgium did take the initiative a few months ago and her invitation to an economic conference to be held at Brussels still holds good. Her activities had the warm approval of the American government. But when inquiry was made as to whether France would consent to permit the subject of reparations to be made a part of the program of the economic conference, the Poincare government at Paris flatly refused. There has been no change of ministry in France since then and the Ruhr situation has developed in the meantime introducing a new series of problems which France is contending shall be settled between Germany and France directly.

Mutual Sacrifices
The president has felt that the success of any economic conference hinges, first of all, on a willingness to make mutual sacrifices, and on a recognition of the fact that reparations furnish the keynote of the arch of world readjustment. Most Europeans insist that the debts of the allies to each other and to the United States are also fundamental to the economic situation. Harding feels that American public opinion would not approve putting into the hopper the subject of war debts because such a step might be construed as inviting a discussion of debt cancellation against which congress already has taken a determined stand in legislation limiting the powers of the commission created to negotiate for the funding of the war debts.

Must Have Assurance
Being unable, therefore, to propose a sacrifice on war debts, being unable also to persuade France to discuss a readjustment of German reparations, the president has the firm belief that a world economic conference would be a good thing if there were any assurance of progress being made on these important fundamentals.

The resolution passed at Rome, largely through the efforts of John H. Pahey of Boston, former president of the United States chamber of commerce, represents the sentiment of the executive organization, of the American Chamber and has the support of many groups of American businessmen, who want to see the purchasing power of Europe increased through improved exchange rates. Mr. Pahey is an ardent champion of international cooperation and a firm believer in the league of nations idea. He is a democrat and a warm admirer of Woodrow Wilson. The present head of the United States chamber of commerce is Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, a republican, and an intimate friend of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in the Harding cabinet. Both Mr. Barnes and Mr. Pahey have frequently been in conference with the department of state and administration officials generally in recent months in the hope of persuading the American government to participate more actively in the economic readjustment of world affairs.

Moral Support Given
The resolution passed at Rome is unquestionably an effort to give moral support to any step which the Harding administration may desire to take whenever the clouds on the present European skies clear up sufficiently to permit the calling of another international conference. At the Rome meeting are representatives of the business interests of the whole world and it is significant that American business leaders have felt warranted in urging a solution along the very lines which the Harding administration has been advocating in its informal parleys with European governments in the last 12 months.

Farmers Opposed.

Farm Bureau Federations of several counties
have been holding meetings in opposition to the 8-hour law. In a word that law makes it an offense to work over 8 hours and applies to every "person" employed in the state. It is probably the most loosely drawn bill before the legislature.
It fails to do what its advocates intended it should do. They were aiming at an 8-hour day in industry but have so far overshot the mark that the bill makes it impossible for overtime and would practically put farm work on an 8-hour basis as a competitor with other lines of employment. No matter how much one might be in favor of the original intent or principle of the bill, it is impossible to give support to a measure so carelessly drawn and so far reaching in its evil effects.

Since the Florida fish understood who Mr. Harding is they have been biting his bait.

Sugar Profiteering.

Summary punishment of profiteers in sugar will be the only measure of safety to the public. Investigations which drag along and, after the public has been misled out of many millions by the robbery, bring a report that the price charged has no justification, are of no use in this case. We were well aware that the most vicious profiteering was going on after the war and some of the men highest in the business world were gambling in public food necessity. No one was sent to the penitentiary and only futile measures were taken to stop the robbery.

Mr. Hoover says there is "no economic justification for the high price of sugar as there is an estimated world surplus." Mr. Hoover denies the charge made, (obviously for political effect) that the department of commerce gave out a statement that there was such a shortage of sugar. An investigation has been going on for some time
by the department of commerce in the sugar
price matter. There does not appear to be justification in the charge made by the publicity department of the People's legislative service of which Mr. La Follette is the head, that Mr. Hoover had anything to do with the false statements as to a shortage in the sugar crop which has been given as one of the reasons for the rise in the price.

What the public wants is some action in reference to the conspiracy that will push up the price
on this necessity and the secretary of commerce
according to his own statement is actively engaged in an endeavor to fix the blame. Political claptrap is one thing, action another. If we are to be the victims of the bandit who hold us up on sugar, we want to know who they are and see them prosecuted.

Think over a plan to help make Riverside the beauty spot of Southern Wisconsin.

That "Indian Uprising."

Whenever an Indian gets "bad" and commits a crime and a few of his tribesmen attempt to aid him or conceal him, the episode grows to the dignity of an "uprising" of the redskins. Nine thousand boys at once begin to prepare for an excursion to the west. If anyone has ever in his travels seen a Plute Indian he has seen the last answer in degenerate native Americans. One or more hard-boiled Indians committing crimes of the same character as those done in populous communities where they are of such high frequency that they are given small attention, have stirred the front pages into action in the past week. That these "outbreaks" took place in the most isolated and least visited of the wonderland
of the west added to the opportunity for dime
novel thrills and thrills.

Had white men performed the feat of escaping
from jail and been given aid and assistance by a dozen renegade sheep-stealing rustlers, we would have heard nothing of it east of Denver. The Plute is famous for a cake made from a meal of ground grasshoppers and for his aversion to water for bathing purposes. He is like many a white man, potential for trouble, when filled with the high voltage moonshine of illicit commerce. But as for an "uprising" there is far more danger in our own effete east than in the sublime scenery of Southern Utah. They have had no Herrins there.

In answering a protest against publishing some news matter objectionable to a number of the so-called better class of the national capital, the Washington Post replied that "a request to a

HOUSING PROBLEMS FOR BIRDS

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—Even the birds are finding the housing problem a little more troublesome nowadays. More and more trees are being cut down.
Hollow trees, which are favorite nesting places,
are cleared out energetically by the efficient farmer. And, in consequence, each year there are fewer really desirable woodland apartments waiting for the song birds when they return from their winter season in the south.

The situation is not serious, however, because the systematic depletion of the timber supply is paralleled by a growing interest in the welfare of the song birds. Not only are all birds except pests generally protected by Federal and State laws, but all sorts of efforts are being made to encourage the song birds and to cultivate their friendship.
The pleasures of having bird families under one's protection have been described so glowingly
by nature societies and school teachers that all over the country people are attracting birds to their homes.

At the same time, the Department of Agriculture continues to point out that song birds are the great natural insect pest destroyers. Hundreds of thousands of insects may be eaten by one bird in a day, and unless the birds like a locality
they will not live there regardless of a large and abundant food supply of grasshoppers, potato beetles,
and aphids.

There are now on an average of only about two birds to an acre in this country. But the government bird experts say this number can be greatly increased where the birds are protected and welcomed. The farmer or fruit grower who takes the trouble to understand the demands of bird tenants may have as many as 50 pairs of birds
all working busily to exterminate his most insect enemies. There is an instance of a 200 acre farm in North Carolina where it was shown that birds destroyed 1,000,000 green bugs, or wheat aphids, daily. Sometimes a tree or an entire field is known to be kept entirely free from pests by birds.

Building bird houses to attract bird guests is increasingly popular. It is estimated there are now probably several million bird houses hopefully waiting for bird occupants every spring. And nearly because natural sites for homes are less plentiful and partly because man-made bird houses are being more expertly built, fewer of these little homes remain vacant through the summer months.

Unfortunately, some houses are still built by amateur bird lovers who fail to consider the peculiarities of bird temperament. But they build a house for blue birds with a doorway so big that English sparrows or other disturbers can easily get inside, or else the house is put where a cat or squirrel can climb up to it. The protection against cats and squirrels is to fasten a piece of tin, preferably funnel shaped, about the tree or post on which the house is set. This tin should be at a sufficient height so that animals cannot leap above it from the ground, and long enough so that they cannot get a hold above it in climbing.

These are little things, but so are locks on doors
and bolts on windows of our own homes.
Building a bird house is not necessarily an elaborate job. So simple a contrivance as a tomato can, gourd, or chalk box, properly remodeled makes a good home for bluebirds, wren, and some other small birds. How to make the different styles of bird houses has been told in a government publication. There are a number of kinds, and it cannot be too strongly emphasized that any house should be made with a definite idea of the birds that will probably occupy it.

Each bird has its own instinctive attitude toward what is desirable in a home, and it is best to consider what birds are likely to come to a neighborhood so that suitable homes can be provided. For instance, purple martins colonize, and a house for them must be designed like an apartment house. Other birds, however, do not seem to like ever-living near members of their own species. It is rare that two families of bluebirds, flickers or swallows will nest near together. The birds do not generally seem to object to neighbors,
but they must be of a different tribe.

When first experiments were made with bird houses, only four kinds of birds were regarded as likely tenants. These were the tree swallow, bluebird, house wren and martin. But since care has been taken to make houses and sheds attractive to particular birds, about 30 varieties have been known to live in man-built shelters.
Houses that are partly or entirely open on the sides, like sheds, attract some birds that will not go into closed houses. In this class are the robin, phoebe, Carolina wren, song sparrow, barn swallow, and sparrow hawk.

The location is important. Robins like trees while martins do not like to be within 20 feet of trees or buildings. Ventilation, protection from wind and rain, and cleanliness are a few other points which make a house comfortable for bird tenants.

Not only England all bird houses must be built so that they can be opened and inspected for gypsy moths. While this is not a requirement elsewhere, it is preferable, almost necessary, to construct a house so that it can be opened and easily cleaned out each season.

Fresh paint is no more liked by birds than by human beings. For this reason a new house should be set out if possible a short time before the birds are expected, to allow it to weather.

Besides furnishing homes for birds, many people are attracting them by food shelters and bird baths, and by planting bushes and trees that bear fruit liked by song birds.
In summer the birds can find food for themselves. But at other seasons it is important to feed them if their presence is wanted. The most satisfactory feeding trays and shelters are protected against wind and rain. They have a drainage arrangement, and they are so placed that the birds are not in danger of attack from their enemies while eating.

newspaper to suppress legitimate news is similar to request to a merchant to quit selling a certain legitimate kind of goods. Whenever a newspaper of general circulation favors a certain individual group, class or section, it risks its reputation and is immediately indicted for bad faith. This states
the case in precise language and with a clarity which can be understood by all. News is news and the contract of a newspaper with the public is that it will print it.

Three Months—Three Bills.

Three bills have been passed up to Saturday, March 24, by the legislature, and ready for the signature of the governor. One of them is the favorite law of the governor himself and the rag-baby of the late campaign, the repeal of the secrecy clause. Another is Cashman's bill making history study something which as Abe Potash
would say is "another thing again." January, February, March—three months—three bills.
Pretty soon the $500 will be gone and when a meal of sausage and rye bread is being consumed
on the benches of the capitol the movement to adjourn may have some strength. If the state could be assured that in the next three months only three bills more would be passed, one a month,
there would be much rejoicing and the legislature would be one of the best we have ever known.

The legislature turned down Big Bill as a state park but we have our own Riverside with just as fine scenery as that of the Beloit hill. What we need to do is to make it the most popular and attractive place in Southern Wisconsin.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

DEAD KING TUT.

Old King Tut has a robe of costly stuff.
A diamond-studded box for his cigarettes and snuff.
A silver jar of honey and a mantle trimmed with gold.
And all the costly trinkets that a regal tomb can hold.
But I'd rather see the springtime with the blue skies overhead
Than to live in a museum as a regal Pharaoh
dead.

Old King Tut has acquired a world renown.
To his dark and gloomy chamber Belgium's
queen went tripping down.
And an English lord attends him, and in just a little while
He will take him out of Egypt and the valley of the Nile.
And he'll carry him to England as a royal Pharaoh dead.
Where he'll lie in a museum with no pillow for his head.

Now the robin sings at morning and the grass
is green once more.
And the tulips come to blossom, and I'm standing at my door.
Seeing beauty all around me, and I hear the children shout.
And I revel in the sunshine that is dancing all about me.
Oh, I'd rather walk the roadways where the living people tread
Than to lie in a museum as a regal Pharaoh
dead.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

ALL HE HAD TO GIVE

A young lawyer was asked to defend a tramp
who was accused of stealing a watch.
The lawyer pleaded with all the ardor at his command, drawing a pathetic picture with such convincing energy that at the close of the argument the court was in tears, and even the tramp wept.

The jury deliberated and found the prisoner
"not guilty."
Then the tramp drew himself up, tears streaming down his face as he said to the lawyer:
"Sir, I have never heard such a grand plea.
I have not cried since I was a child. I have no money with which to reward you, but—drawing
a package from the depths of his ragged clothes
—here's that watch; take it and welcome."

Who's Who Today

COUNTESS CONSTANCE H. DE CAEN.

A message of love, sympathy and thanks for the gold star mothers of the United States is being carried to them from France by Countess Constance H. de Caen.

She is now in France, trying to deliver that message at her own expense.
The Countess is one of France's war heroines. She has been cited by the French government for her relief work during the war and her financial aid. The Societe des Secours aux Blesses Militaires has awarded her the gold palm and medal.

One of the countess' contributions to the aid of France's soldiers was her plan—which was carried out of forwarding
open the homes of the nobility to the soldiers. Since the war she has organized many committees among the rich and the officials for visiting and caring for the graves of American dead.

The countess enjoys the distinction, for an unmarried woman, of possessing a title of inheritance. It came to her through her father's ancestry because she is the last of his line. Her mother was of British blood. Her maternal ancestors were British Admirals. Her great grandfather, Sir James B. Eliyzer, fought in the war of 1812.

She is a tall, slender little woman and appears to be in the forties. She has firm, determined but beautiful features and a wealth of dark hair.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT

Notwithstanding the presence of a new baby in the house, all hands, and especially mamma, should have eight hours sleep out of each 24. If mamma is a 100 per cent mother and anything happens to interfere with her eight hours of sleep at night, then she must make up for lost time by taking a nap of an hour or two after midday lunch. Possibly she may not sleep at this time, but no matter, she can at least lie down and rest, which is nearly if not quite the same.

There is no medicine like sleep to help a young mother in the big job of nursing her baby. I often think that if all the wisest mothers who are sincerely trying to be 100 per cent mothers would spend the time
napping which they spend listening to Mrs. Gamp's stories and advice, this fair country of ours would not be so overrun with baby specialists
nor so burdened by systems of infant feeding.

After a few weeks old is justified
in demanding two feeds in the night,
after the age of six weeks but one night nursing, and after the age of four months a normal infant should require no food from 10 p. m. to 8 a.
m. Many babies learn to sleep from 4 to 6 without food from the third month.

For the baby's best interest a separate crib should be provided from the very beginning. Under no circumstances should the baby sleep
with mother.

The clock, not the intensity of the baby's howls, nor the sympathy of grandma, should determine meal time for the baby. A baby's works are laid physiologically. That is, the digestive and excretory organs are concerned with digestion are co-ordinated and adjusted so finely as to put many clocks and dials to shame;
it makes all the difference in the world between a comfortable and uncomfortable baby. Formerly doctors taught that the new baby should be nursed every two hours. Now they favor three hours for the first four or five weeks, and four hourly nursing after the baby is a month or two old. This schedule has been found to fit in better; probably it synchronizes with the physical and intestinal activities, better than the old time 2 or 2 1/2 hour plan. The modern schedule gives the baby five meals in 24 hours. Only when the baby is very young, or feebly is the sixth meal given in the night. If the baby is taught from the first to sleep in a separate crib
the mother will find it easy to train.

HIGHWAY BILLS IN HEARING MARCH 28

Gasoline Tax Versus Weight
Fee Will be Considered
By Committee.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison.—People of the state will have an opportunity to express themselves on proposed highway legislation next Wednesday when the two highway committees will provide for a two cent gasoline tax and a graduated license fee
based on weight, come up for hearing before the highway committee of the legislature.

These two measures, application of which would raise $11,000,000 annually in Wisconsin from automobile owners, are expected to meet
strong opposition in their present form. The graduated license fee is drawn to bring a return of $8,000, 000 each year, and gasoline tax $3, 000,000.

All automobile owners are directly affected by the legislation proposed by the legislative committee.
Neither of the bills to be considered has yet been introduced into the legislature because of the refusal of Senator George Staufenbiel, chairman of the senate committee, to bring them in. It is expected Senator Cashman, the new senate chairman, will introduce the bills.

The Wall Flower

By MARION RUBINCAM

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Pandora Nicholson is so painfully shy that when she meets new people she can't think of anything to say to them, and never knows what to do with her hands or feet. She lives in a poor relation with her Aunt Maude, her uncle and their very popular daughter, Gladys—all of whom tell her frequently that she is hopelessly stupid and queer. She has only one friend, Morton, who lives like herself. Gladys, who has everything, suddenly marries Morton. Pandora fancies herself heartbroken.

She goes to New York to live with Gloria Gates, a brilliant, creative woman, whose little cousin, Frankie, she takes care of. Among kindlier people Pandora begins to find herself. Frankie, George, who goes with them that summer to Europe, in Europe Gloria, now a widow, marries Sam. Frankie, returns to London. He has been in love with Pandora all the time and asks her to marry him. She goes to New York, taking along little Frankie.

GLORIA'S RETURN

Chapter 105

It isn't necessary to follow far into Pandora's married life. That was to be happy enough. As Gloria, who always saw deeper into people than they suspected, and further into a subject than most others, she had had her doubts about the wisdom of these two friends marrying.

"Pan is too gentle, too easily led about," she said once to Santley. "For a very dictatorial man, George himself is inclined to be passive, though he likes his own way as well as any man. I was simply thinking—she paused, staring into the blue water that washed the side of the ship. "I was simply thinking that one might tire of the other."

"That's a danger they'll share with every other couple that ever married," Santley answered, laughing a little. "Doubtless even you and I stand some such risk—you do, at least. For me you have infinite variety."

"A nice compliment," approved Gloria, moving the least fraction of an inch nearer to him as they stood together at the ship's rail.

"They had shortened the trip a little, taken a cruise in the Mediterranean and stopping only a day or two at various cities where Gloria had been during the distant, unhappy days of her first marriage. And then they were sailing now to Venice, from which place of enchantment they were to go in a week to Paris and London.

"And then I must leave you," Gloria had declared. "If we had Frankie along, it would be different but I feel sufficiently disgraced as it is, deserting him for two long months."

"Long months!" echoed Santley. "All right, have it your own way—to me they've been brief enough. But I can't get away from London for three weeks at least."

"So, counting the week or ten days of sailing, you'll be away from me a month at least," Gloria summed it up. "Well, in that time I'll hunt a decent sized apartment for and move in a table or so and a chair and such necessities. Also, I'll see how my neglected business is to be saved."

"So you are going on with it?" Santley was slightly disappointed.

"Oh yes, I must. Otherwise my energy will run you to death. I must have an outlet for it."

"I've money enough, you know."

"It isn't that. I won't work hard at it, I promise. It's simply that I've been independent. I must go on feeling so."

And Santley, who saw the wisdom in that, made no further objection. But when they reached London there were letters from Pan, telling of her daily trips to the office, and a package of letters that only Gloria herself could answer.

"I thought my poor little trade would have died of neglect by this time," Gloria remarked. "And that I would have to start all over again having tea with stuffy old ladies and taking thing chatterboxes with more money than brains to lunch, until I'd persuaded them they needed rooms over."

"But it appears that little Pan has been going down every day, and looking after things. I can see her, her correspondence, as she is clear and straightened my flat last winter when she came and found it in confusion. What would we do without her?"

So Gloria sailed alone on the fastest ship she could find passage in, and thrilled, as she always thrilled when they slipped into New York harbor, at the golden rays of the sun striking out the tallest of the towers for special illumination.

She scanned the sea of upturned faces as the big ship was slowly warped into the dock, but could find none she knew.

"They'll be there, of course," she kept up her courage by saying to herself. "I called I was sailing."

She did not know how much she had missed Frankie. Until she caught sight of a small figure waving a handkerchief. But it wasn't Frankie, for when she borrowed a pair of opera glasses from a fellow passenger, she saw that the child was quite different and hair much darker, and Gloria was almost weeping with vexation and impatience.

The wind took the smoke from the little tug boats and blew a series of it between the decks and the wharf. The tide was against them too, and made things difficult. More tugs had to be called, a swarm of them were around the big ship, pushing and shoving and spluttering black smoke—like ants trying to carry some gigantic bread-crumbs with them.

But at last as they drew slowly nearer, she recognized a tall figure waving, not a handkerchief but a cane. As she signalled back, George lifted Frankie to his shoulder and the child waved his cane high over the heads of the crowd. After that she counted minutes until the passengers could get off, and she stood finally with Frankie in her arms and in the combined embrace of Pan and George.

"We've got a new car, a big one, outside," Pan told her. "George is teaching me to drive. We're taking your trunk to our place and then tonight we're driving up to a camp in Connecticut—the loveliest place!"

Gloria was ready to weep with joy. Pan was already doing so.

CLEANSE YOUR IMPURE BLOOD

That "knocked-down-and-dragged-out" feeling, the skin eruptions and mucky complexion and the sick spells that leave you so weak are all signs of impure blood.

As a blood medicine and spring tonic Gude's Pepto-Mangan has no equal. It will send a new supply of rich blood coursing through your veins, clear up your skin and give you a new feeling of physical power and vitality.

Your druggist has Gude's—in both liquid and tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Tonic and Blood Enricher

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a milky complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards', well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound and mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.

Farm Bureau Official Information

ROCK CO. FARMERS

PATRONIZE "CO-OP"

Producers' Commission Agency
Receiving Many Rock Co.
Shipments.

Chicago.—The Janesville Shipping Association, Janesville, Wisconsin, was on the Chicago market last week with a carload of hogs consigned to the Chicago Producers' Commission Association. A good price was secured considering the war's trade. The shipment was made up by H. Hemmingsway, J. J. McCann, A. Hamilton, Sr., B. T. Gunn, B. L. Wilcox, Fred Williams, Jerry Sullivan, A. Hamilton, Jr.

The Footville Livestock Shipping Association, Footville, Wisconsin, was on the Chicago market the same day with a mixed shipment of cattle and hogs, also consigned to the Chicago Producers' Commission Association. The cattle in this shipment were from G. Wilko, P. Alwin, J. Murphy, A. C. Wicklengale, C. Barov, P. Honorett, J. Snoman, J. W. Wilke, J. Smith, A. Behling, Volmans & Olin, G. Yelmans, B. Olin, T. Barov and G. Schumaker. The hogs were sent by Ed Brown, B. V. Snyder, M. Ballmer, F. Honeysett, T.

Surrow, M. C. Ballmer, B. Olin. The Chicago Producers' Commission Association, to whom the Janesville and Footville live stock was consigned, is a branch of the National Live Stock Producers Association, the others being located at National Stock Yards, (St. Louis market), Buffalo, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Peoria and Fort Worth.

Chicago Producers' Commission Association is owned by the farmers who ship livestock to it and has been in operation less than a year. For weeks past, with only one exception, it has sold more carloads of livestock per week than any other of the hundred commission firms at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago. The annual meeting will be held in May and the members will receive checks for their share of the profits, pro-rata to the amount of the shipments they have sent in. By means of the Chicago Producers' Commission Association livestock producers can market to the same advantage whether by small consignment, by truck, or by carload.

POTATO MARKETING POOL IS CONSIDERED

Madison.—Potato growers of Wisconsin will hold a meeting at Campyon on March 28 to complete plans for the organization and operation of the Wisconsin Potato Exchange, which was incorporated at a meeting of the state executive committee of the Wisconsin Farm Federation at Madison on Jan. 2.

Walton Pectet, director of cooperative marketing of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is expected to be present and advise with the potato growers as to the most effective means of operating the exchange. A board of directors will be elected for the coming year.

It is hoped that a uniform plan will be adopted in the various states to the end that the potato crop may be marketed to better advantage in the future, not only through state exchanges but also in connection with the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers Inc., the national sales organization established on Jan. 1 by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

MARQUART BROS. SELL SIRE TO ILL. MAN

William Masch, Winnebago, Ill., purchased a roan milking Shorthorn sire from the Marquart Brothers during the last week.

A correct report on the Shorthorn C. T. A. shows that Genevieve, owned by the Marquart Brothers, is credited with 1,151 pounds of 3.5 milk and 40 pounds of fat.

HOUSE TO BE SOLD FOR ST. OLAF CONCERT

To all appearances, the high school auditorium will be sold out for the concert to be given by St. Olaf choir April 4, according to the committee in charge. Interest is growing daily and Rockford and Janesville are the latest distant towns to send a call for tickets. Should the roads be impassable, Stoughton it is said will charter a special train to attend the concert here. The choir is composed of 64 boys and girls and sings its entire concert from memory without instrumental accompaniment of any kind.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead.—Frank Parker was a business visitor in Janesville, Friday. Mrs. Alice Long and sons, Harry and Lloyd, were in Orfordville, Friday, to attend the funeral of Miss Jane Long.

Mrs. Edward H. Cole and Miss Cole were Janesville visitors Friday. Mrs. Goldie Beema, who has been here for a fortnight, the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Koller, departed Friday for her home.

Andrew Guul spent Friday in Orfordville. W. R. Minger was up from Ellett, Friday, between trains.

Edward H. Cole had business at Monroe, Friday. E. D. Fisher went to Janesville, Friday, and returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Bliss returned Wednesday from a stay of some months in California points.

Messrs. Mills and Fairman formally took possession of the old flouring mill property today. They will make some changes besides putting in new machinery.

Miss Mary Preston remains in a critical condition. Mrs. G. E. Dixon and Miss Dixon spent Monday in Janesville. The domestic science department of the local high school, under direction of Miss Grace Pice, gave a 6:30 dinner to the Board of Education at the school house Friday evening. Hands and wives of the members were also present.

Paul Zimmerman, who was quite seriously injured ten days since while driving under a beam in a coal shed, is gaining nicely.

Paris.—The war damage in the devastated regions of France was fixed at $5,750,000,000 francs.

MILTON JUNCTION

Milton Junction.—A daughter, Glennis Loette, was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marshall, March 19, at the Madison Sanitarium. Mrs. Marshall is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Antidel. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Strassburg were in Jefferson, Friday, to attend the funeral of Mr. Strassburg's uncle—Mrs. J. A. Hughes and Dorothy Johnson went to Stoughton, Friday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Peterson. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Hanson, March 15.—Dr. A. S. WALWORTH COUNTY

ELKHORN

County Seat News.
MRS. CLARA HARRINGTON.
Tel. 10-35.

Elkhorn—Tuesday's election, April promises to be an unusually quiet one in Elkhorn. No contests are slated. The following have filed nomination papers: Alderman—Frank George, P. Heck; third ward, John T. Tobin. Treasurer—Mrs. Alice Olson. Supervisor—Miss Ward, Dunbar. Livestock—second ward, C. K. Dunbar. Third ward, Ben Buchholz.

Walworth county is vitally interested in the assembly bill repealing the district drainage law. There are several of these districts in the county that have made valuable hundreds of acres of worthless land.

Mrs. Louise Winters-Snyder entertained a party of friends at the Princess theater, Saturday night. The comedy "Diogenes" looks for a Secretary" will be given by the Commercial club of the Elkhorn high school Wednesday night, March 28. The high school is now engaged in the purpose of giving this play to defray expenses of contestants who take part in the commercial contests at Janesville next month. Admission, 15 cents.

The senior boys' band concert Saturday night was a success musically and financially. The total receipts were such that the band will clear $50. Mr. Burgh, the director, feels gratified. Measles and mumps are yet interfering with the work of the band, several members being excused to play. Chief Lockwood was secured to substitute for two bass horns.

Prescott Lawrence has accepted a position with the Wisconsin Dutton and Co. company.

The Walworth County Oratorical league will meet in Elkhorn April 27, at the Sprague opera house.

William Ward, city marshal, received a telegram from Valentine, Neb., Friday, inquiring about Allen Christensen, who had been killed on the railroad. The body was identified by a promissory note he held, payable at the First National bank, Elkhorn. Christensen's home was in Plainfield, Wis., where his parents live. He was 20 years old, unmarried, and served in the late war. He came to Elkhorn 3 years ago and is company with Charles A. Williams, who worked in the Elkhorn farm, east of town. His whereabouts since leaving Elkhorn two years ago were unknown.

Citizens are invited to attend an illustrated lecture on landscape gardening at the high school building at 8 p. m. Monday, P. Edwards, formerly of Port Arkhison, now engaged in this work in Milwaukee, has been engaged to give some profitable ideas about beautifying Elkhorn.

Among the Clubs—The History club meets with Mrs. Harold Miller Monday night, and the members read assigned parts of "The White Headed Boy," a comedy by Lennox Robinson. There are eight actors and three actresses in the play. The Elkhorn social clubs all take a vacation this week, none meeting until after Easter.

Bethel chapter, O. E. S. will meet Tuesday night. After the regular session, the young women who put on "Our Aunt from California" will repeat the playlet, many being absent at the first presentation.

Elkhorn students in the various institutions continue to earn honors, another one having lately come to Arlene Page at Madison. She has been chosen one of the captains for the annual V. W. C. A. faculty drive. Miss Page is a member of the Castalia, one of the oldest debating societies of the university.

P. L. Brabon joined his wife in Chicago Thursday. They were called to Chicago by the illness of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruckert went to Chicago Friday to remain over the week-end, attending the 86th birthday celebration of Mr. Ruckert's mother.

The members of the M. E. Sunday school remembered the birth of their superintendent, Mrs. James Stokes, Friday, by sending her a bouquet. Messrs. Burch and McQuiston have been having vacations in their band lessons at Palmyra and Lake Geneva on account of blocked roads.

Miss Ethel Gatewary, Clinton, Ia., arrived here Monday to spend her Easter vacation with her cousin, Mrs. Will Opitz.

36 New Cases of Measles Reported in City in Week

Thirty-six cases of measles have been reported to City Health Officer Fred B. Welch by Janesville physicians the past week as the weekly contribution of the epidemic prevalent over the country. Four cases of diphtheria, in one family, were reported last week. There was but one case of scarlet fever placarded.

There are four homes in the city having diphtheria cases and we hope this is not prophetic of another widespread epidemic, said Dr. Welch. It is, however, evident that there are a large number of carriers in the city, and the only way to find them is through a test of all in the city, which is impossible at present because of the shifting population.

"The only way to prevent the disease is to have children vaccinated against the disease. Most cases of diphtheria are among children and 85 per cent of the children are open to mumps to the disease determined by a Schick test and then vaccinated if they are not."

Several carriers discovered by physicians are now under quarantine.

FORMER WHITEWATER RESIDENT IS DEAD

Whitewater—Eunice Hopkin, 25, daughter of the Rev. Robert Hopkin, Congregational pastor here from February, 1911 to June 1, 1912, died of blood poisoning at Denver, where the family now lives and where she had been visiting. Miss Hopkin was a journalist's work. Miss Hopkin was with her parents when they lived here and went to Tippecanoe college. Her father moved to Fond du Lac

The parents and a sister, Ruth, of Denver, and a brother, Douglas, survive.

Charles F. West died at his home in Oak Park, Ill., Friday morning. He was born on a farm in Sugar Creek, Walworth county 60 years ago and was a son of Stephen and Martha West. He leaves a wife, two married daughters and a brother, Dr. S. C. West, Chicago. W. A. West and Mrs. A. J. Reed, a brother and sister who live in Elkhorn and a sister, Mrs. Jean Taylor, Pasadena, Cal. The funeral and burial took place at Oak Park Monday and was attended by the Elkhorn relatives. The deceased had long been prominent as a Chicago contractor and builder.

Edward Thatcher, one of the substantial farmers of the town of Linn, passed away Friday, March 23, following a stroke of paralysis, aged, 66 years. Mr. Thatcher was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thatcher, old time residents of Linn, where their son, Edward, was born. Mr. Thatcher is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Tappen, sister of George Tappen, Linn and a son, Lewis, Barrington, Ill.; Harry, Glenn and George, who reside on the farm, and Charles, who is attending the state university, Madison. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Buel, Linn; Fred Thatcher, Gilman, Wis., and Alfred Thatcher, Warren, Ind. The funeral was held Monday, burial in the Linn-Hebron cemetery.

J. A. Greiss of the Arthur Young Auditing company, Chicago, was in Lake Geneva last week, auditing the books of the Southern Wisconsin Electric company.

Miss Mary Allen of the Electric company returned from Chicago Friday, where she spent a few days.

Renew Efforts to Raise Russian Aid

A second set of letters and literature concerning the drive now being conducted in the city to raise money for the relief of Russians has been sent out to several hundred Janesville citizens by the Rev. H. G. Pearson, Baptist church, chairman of the local committee. The city is still low in its subscriptions and it is hoped to get enough contributions to reach somewhere near the quota of $2,500.

A campaign was conducted in the schools of the city, netting $18 in the grades and more than $30 from the high school.

Contributions of citizens should be made to Harry Haggart, president of the National bank and treasurer of the committee, which includes 29 local people interested in the work, representing various organizations.
